CHINESE WOMEN TO BE TOPIC AT CHURCH

Riverside Presbyterial Meeting To Be Well Attended Tomorrow

Why is new China different from old China?

Women who hear Mrs H. C. Mei, foremont spokesman for Chinese women, address the morning session of the Riverside Presbyterial World-Fellowship conference tomorrow at the Presbyterian church will undoubtedly conclude that it is the change in the status of women that is largely responsible for that nation's transformation.

A close associate of Madame Chiang Kai-shek, Mrs. Mei served as chairman of the Chinese national committee of the Y. W. C. A. for seven years, and was vice-chairman of the World Y. W. C. A. In addition, she was vice-chairman of the Pan Pacific Woman's association, and chairman of the joint committee of Shanghai Womens' organization. The latter is an organization of 3,000 women, including 18 nationalities.

Working for everything that would mean improvement for her people, Mrs. Mei has been identified with efforts to better the condition of women in industry, and with organizations to promote child welfare.

LIVE IN CLAREMONT

Two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Mei and their three children escaped to this country, coming as refugees from Shanghai. There, Mr. Mei had been engaged in law practice for many years. Just recently Mr Mei has returned to the Orient, having gone to Manila to continue with his professional work there. The three children attend Claremont schools.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mei are graduates of Columbia University. Mrs. Mei claims Barnard college as her alma mater.

Because of the exceptional charm and also of the authenticity with which Mrs. Mei speaks, it is expected that many women, besides those in the Presbyterial, will wish to hear her. Consequently, a general invitation has been issued. Reservations for the noon luncheon are limited, however.

MIGRANT PROBLEM

Following the luncheon, the afternoon program will be devoted to "Our Migrant Problem", when Dr. Philip Payne, National Missions executive of California Synod, will speak, and when Mrs. Leisa Bronson of Claremont, a California member of the National Y. W. C. A. board will show exhibits of migrant camps.

Exhibits will be placed in two rooms. One will be devoted to China, and will contain books, tea pots, illustrated books and scrolls collected by Dr. and Mrs F. J. White during their long residence in China.

A second exhibit will present a display of factual information on the migrant problem.

$10,466 AWARDED YOUTH RESULT OF CRASH INJURIES

John Blanton, Hurt in Euclid Avenue Accident, Gets Jury Verdict

In a verdict handed down in a jury trial in the Superior court in San Bernardino, John Blanton, Jr., and his father, John Blanton, of North First avenue, were awarded damages in the sum of $10,466. The case grew out of an accident that occurred four years ago at Euclid and G street, when John Blanton, then 12 years old, was struck by a car owned by Mrs. Keith Koehler, 1000 West Twenty-second street, and driven by Mrs. Koehler's cousin, Robert B. Curry.

This was the second trial, the appellate court having ordered a new trial after reviewing the proceedings of a trial in 1938 in which damages were denied.

The youth suffered a fractured skull and brain concussion, which his father claimed has impaired his abilty as a student.

Mrs. Koehler stated today that she was fully covered by insurance and the case is being handled entirely by the insurance campany. It is not known if the company plans to appeal the decision.

It Affects Everyone

"It is a tremendous responsibility serving on a draft board. Your work disrupts the lives of so many persons."

That is the expressed sentiment of R. O. Price, Uplander, who reflected the other day for The News on his part in the 1917 draft. When he said that, he was, no doubt, thinking of the hundreds of young men he signed up and who went on to war, some of them never to return.

He was also thinking, no doubt, of the registration for selective service scheduled for Oct. 16. On that day, 16,500,000 young Americans will register for military service. On that date, this country will experience for the first time a peace-time draft of men for duty as soldiers.

It seems to the great mass of people a very logical and necessary step.

It seem logical and necessary, in the light of current developments, as perhaps the best way to keep the nation out of war.

Already sixteen billion dollars in money yet to be earned has been earmarked for the building of machines of war. Every American is conscripted to sacrifice some of his earnings to help pay the huge cost. Mobilization of national income and producing power would be meaningless without an adequate force of men thoroughly trained in the use of the complex machines of modern combat. The soldier of this day must be a specialist of high skill.

Mr. Price was right, conscription affects the lives of so many people. And so does war in all of its horribleness. But the preparations made by the nation in getting ready now, may be one very good reason why the guns may never have to be fired.

Slaughter of Innocents

Four hundred and fifteen deaths of school children in traffic accidents, California's toll for 1939, is altogether too high. In addition 12,276 youths were injured and maimed, according to office of the California Association of Highway Patrolmen, who have decided to do something about it.

They point out that the 108,087 school-age victims of accidents in California during the past ten years would populate a city larger than the state capital—or a county larger than any of 48 out of the 58 counties of the state. They are redoubling their efforts to stop the slaughter.

It Will Help Upland, Too

Residents of Upland will be affected by outcome of the Ontario airport election today. If it is approved, Ontario city will acquire a 400-acre site and that site will be developed as an industrial center when and if industries will locate there.

Greater is the development in Ontario, better is it for Upland. Progress in one community helps stimulate progress in another.

How About It?

Have you registered? No? Then, do it now.

If you have never registered, register now.

If you failed to vote last year, register now.

If you have moved from one precinct to another since your last registration, register now.

The deadline is Sept. 26. Either Mrs. Adelaide H. Plum or Judge Fred H. Jacobs can handle your registration.

Church Benefit Tea Held at Home of Mrs. Hamilton

Sponsored by Mrs. Isabelle Wisely's group of the Presbyterian Women's association, the silver tea held Friday at the home of Mrs. J. F. Hamilton, 627 East D street, Ontario, was both a delightful and a financially successful event.

Hostesses were Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Thos. W. Harris, with Mrs. Wisely assisting.

The guests, some 35 in number, were entertained in the attractive garden, the weather being perfect for the out-of-doors gathering. Adding to the pleasure of the afternoon, Mrs. Hamilton read two Edgar Guest selections, "Package of Seed" and "Neighborly", and Mrs. Earl F. Riggs gave a reading, her selection being "Trouble in the Amen Corner".

Tea was served in the dining room, an autumn theme being utilized in the decorations. Gracing the smartly appointed table were bowls of richly colored grapes and tall green candles, while zinnias and other fall blossoms provided the floral decoration for the rooms.

Mrs. H. M. Guy and Mrs. Herbert S. Bailey presided at the tea table.

The occasion is planned as a courtesy for all members, with a special welcome being extended to the new members.

During a recent meeting of the executive board conducted by Mrs. John D. McPherson, the president, tentative plans for the year's programs were discussed, but completion of the plans, except those for the first two meetings, waits the return of the program chairman, Mrs. W. B. Harvey, who is visting in the east. She is expected home by Oct. 1.

Each autumn the club's first meeting is the membership tea and reception and for the second meeting, late in October, the members provide their own program by telling of their summer vacation experiences.

The club women are looking forward with enthusiasm to the beginning of club activities and a very successful year is expected.

Mrs. Collinsworth Is Honor Guest at Gift Shower

Gathering at the home of Mrs. Rae Pyle, 183½ South Third avenue, Friday evening, a group of friends participated in a merry party and layette shower for Mrs. Leonard Collinsworth.

Some time was spent in playing various games, with Mrs. Arthur Kirkham, Mrs. Charles Reed and Mrs. Fred Allen winning the prizes. However, the most interesting feature of the party was the presentation of the gifts to Mrs. Collinsworth, who opened the parcels and displayed the various dainty articles. A number of invited guests, who were unable to be present, sent in their gifts.

Mrs. Pyle used pink asters in her house decorations and as the concluding event of the party she served refreshments.

Those in attendance besides Mrs. Collinsworth, were Mrs. Barth Aberle, Mrs. Fred Allen, Mrs. Arthur Kirkham, Mrs. Chas. B. Reed, Mrs. Ronald R. Rowe, Mrs. Harry Snowden, Mrs. Kieth Walker, Mrs. Henry Young and Mrs. Pyle.

REVIEW OF BOOKS AT LOCAL LIBRARY

BY MRS. RUTH N. WEST
Member Library Staff

"Inside Story", by Members of "Overseas Press Club of America".

Reading like a "Who's Who" in American overseas reporting, "The Inside Story" presents accounts by outstanding personalities in the newspaper world. "The Overseas Press Club of America", whose members have written this book, was founded by a small group of former foreign correspondents who met for the first time on United States soil to exchange experiences. Their headquarters soon became the focal point for all American correspondents upon their return to the United States.

It was in the intimate setting of such a meeting that the idea for the book was conceived. Naturally a wide variety of material resulted, because names which have headed important front-page dispatches from every corner of the earth were invited to write their favorite behind-the-scenes stories. Among these are H. V. Kaltenborn's story of the role played by radio in the war; Peggy Hull's description of Pancho Villa's raid on Columbus, New Mexico; William Parker's adventure in carrying Japanese peace terms to Chiang Kai-shek; Eugene Lyon's analysis of Stalin's counter-revolution, and many others.

The child was taken to a doctor's office, where she was found to have suffered no injuries.

SUMMER WATER BILLS SHOW JULY PEAK MONTH IN CITY

Did your July water bill surprise you because you thought it was larger than it should be? Was it more than the bill for August—a month which actually showed the same average maximum temperature?

RECORD MONTH

That July was a month of high summer water costs for home owners is shown by an examination and comparison of the records in the municipal water department. In fact, this condition has been the cause of considerable comment in the office, reports City Manager R. G. Manley.

Careful check of the meter readings, of suspected faucet leaks and other irregularities that might have caused unusual bills were made, however, by water department employes. After about 60 or 70 complaints, and after comparing the bills of all water users in the city, the water department was forced to the conclusion that "people simply used more water in July."

A check of the average daily temperature at 2 p. m. showed July to be no warmer than August this year. In fact, the average 2 p. m. temperatures in the two months was exactly the same —87 degrees.

JUNE COOL

However, June was an exceptionally cool month this year, with an average 2 p. m. temperature of only 80 degrees. As almost always happens, water users get extravagant after a cool spell, comments Mr. Manley. After a vacation from daily waterings, gardeners suddenly notice, as weather warms up, that their lawns are brown, and flowers are wilting.

Hence, they flood their gardens, and in some instances overdo the watering. In late spring, water bills always take a jump.

This year, July bills were in many cases two and three times what bills had been in previous months, or even in peak months.

September, 1939, which everyone remembers as the most uncomfortable month of the year, did not see the sudden increase in water bills that one might expect.

LESS THAN NEARBY TOWNS

Upland's domestic water rate is less than that in some nearby towns, and a great deal less than many eastern cities. In Upland the minimum rate is $1.25 (less 20 per cent or 25c for payment by the fifteenth of the month) for 700 cubic feet of water. Beyond that the rate is 10 cents per thousand cubic feet.

An average water bill during the summer for the domestic user is around $5, estimates Mr. Manley. On especially large lots the rate is naturally more.

However, some persons use more water than is necessary, and permit it to penetrate to a depth where plants do not use it. On the other hand, where soils are heavily mulched, good soakings, applied less frequently, are actually more economical.

Where lawns are watered every day, ten-minute runs for sprinkling systems are usually sufficient, he believes.

COOL SEPTEMBER CONTRAST TO INTENSE HEAT OF 1939

"September is our warmest month. I always take my vacation then."

Persons who regulate their holidays by this rule have had to change their tune this year. September this year is proving to be a delightful end to a delightful summer, everyone knows, and a check of temperatures proves.

With a summer which rivaled that of summer resorts, most persons figured about September 1: "Well' we've been pretty lucky so far, but we'll get ours in September."

However, their forebodings have so far failed to materialize.

The first 24 days of September this year have shown a striking difference to the first 24 days of the same month in 1939.

This year average temperature at 2 p. m., which is usually the maximum for the day, was 85 degrees. A year ago the average temperature was 92 degrees. Furthermore, in 1939, 13 out of the first 24 days showed a temperature of 90 degrees or more, and included eight days when the temperature was 100 degrees and over. This year, in September, the warmest day was only 90 degrees.

A comparison of the following average 2 p. m. temperatures for the warm months proves that Upland can really brag about something this year.

	1939	1940
June	80	80
July	89	87
August	90	87
Sept. (22 days)	92	85

That Upland residents' memories were not failing them when they branded this September as the best September in years is proved by a check of several years back.

In 1936, the average maximum temperature at 2 p. m. was 86.8; in 1937, 93; in 1938, 92.

TEMPERANCE UNION ELECTS DELEGATES

W. C. T. U. Prepares to Participate in Coming Convention

Preparations for the local Union's part in the state convention to be held in San Bernardino on Sept. 30-Oct. 4, occupied much of the time during the business session of the all-day meeting held Friday by the Upland Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Delegates to take part in the official transactions of the convention were named, Mrs. Lewis Jenison and Miss Ruth Crane being selected as the regular delegates and Mrs. H. S. Sparks and Mrs. E. C. Chapman as alternates.

A large number of the local members will attend all or part of the convention sessions and several will participate by serving on various committees.

DIRECTORS NAMED

The meeting Friday was held in the parlor of the Methodist church, with Mrs. Ralph H. Marr, president, presiding, and during the morning business session Mrs. Marr announced the appointment of the following directors:

Literature, Mrs. Grace Davis; child welfare, Miss Ruth Crane; Christian citizenship, Mrs. W. L. Keown; evangelism, Mrs. H. S. Sparks; international relations for peace, Mrs. Jesse McCoy; medical temperance, Mrs. A. E. Clauson; parliamentary procedure, Miss Lillian J. Williams; religious education, Mrs. J. W. Bryden; motion pictures, Mrs. Lewis Jenison; Mrs. Louise Wilson, temperance and missions; Mrs. Fred Hoppe, speech contests, Union Signal and Young Crusader; Miss Flora Morley, flower mission and publicity.

Following the morning session a contributed dish luncheon was served.

The Rev. Will South, pastor of the Upland Church of the Nazarene, opened the afternoon session with a devotional service.

Several members gave reports of the recent county convention held in Ontario, the principal reports being resumes of the address of the Rev. Mr. White, given by Mrs. C. S. Kelley, and the address of Mrs. Jennie Ray Thompson of Los Angeles, given by Mrs. Lewis Jenison.

Some time was spent in practicing this union's part of a song written by Mrs. Marr and containing one verse for each union in the county, with a common chorus.

Special guests at the meeting were the Rev. and Mrs. Will South and the Rev. Weldon Stone, evangelist conducting a meeting at the Nazarene church.

Others present were Mesdames Ralph H. Marr, W. C. Clewett, E. C. Chapman, Lewis Jenison, S. E. Couch, Mary Cadnum, James Merchant, Geo. R. Crane, H. S. Sparks, E. A. Clauson, Jesse McCoy, C. S. Kelley, W. L. Keown, J. P. Bert, D. C. Davy, Miss Ruth Crane, Miss Elizabeth Griggs, Miss Lillian J. Williams and Fremont Crane.

QUITE EASY

With his usual long-windedness, the club bore was describing one of his hair-breadth escapes.

"There was I," he said, "on a lonely road, miles from anywhere, with a blazing car. What do you think I did?"

One weary listener stifled his yawns long enough to reply:

"Took a long breath and blew it out!"

Letters to The News

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters have issued a statement in your paper against the adoption of the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and it seems only fair that arguments for it should be presented.

The argument that if adopted "it would cause an endless amount of litigation to establish the meaning of equal rights" is an old one often used by those who have not given the matter sufficient thought. The proposed amendment simply asks that men and women be granted the same rights under the law—that is, the same legal rights. As these rights are already defined in our laws of both state and nation, there is no need of "litigation to define equal rights".

We ask only that all laws now written on the statute books apply alike to men and women; that whatever legal rights men enjoy in a given state be extended to women also, in that state; that laws favoring women in any state be extended as well to men in that state. There is nothing fairer than this, I feel sure.

At this time women are "nearly citizens" (only 1000 laws in the various states discriminate against them); and as we pay the same taxes, suffer the same penalties when we break the laws, we ask the same rights under the laws that men now have and the Equal Rights Amendment would bring this about by "one stroke of the pen" so to speak.

As to protective laws for women in industry, we strongly support equal rights here, for we believe if a protective law is good, it should be extended to men as well as women. Statistics show that women are longer lived than men and, although men have more physical strength, yet women are more enduring under adversity.

The new wage-hour law applies alike to men and women workers, but the states, like California, that had so-called protective laws for women on their books are still trying to enforce them in preference to complying with the federal law.

Easily secured information concerning the status of employed women reveals the fact that the "protective" laws, however honestly they may have been conceived, often are operated to the distinct and unfair detriment of the very women they are supposed to protect.

In the argument presented by the League of Women Voters, attention was called to the fact that three national organizations of women were against the amendment. I have in my hand a statement of those women's organizations who are for the Amendment; I find there are 10 national organizations supporting the Amendment, 22 state organizations and 58 local groups—all asking that this country become a true democracy by granting "men and women equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction." Let us look at this question through the light of reason, not prejudice. Una R. Winter
